The character of Donna Spagnolini embodies a spirit of love, hope, enthusiasm, and authenticity. She is an independent woman who is also family-oriented. She knows how to take care of herself, enjoy life, run a business, encourage people to have a good time, and above all be herself. Donna believes in finding true love and knows that when you open up to it, it can change your life in a wonderful way. She also believes that life can be just as fabulous when you learn to love and open up to yourself. It is my hope that she inspires you to do just that.

All the proceeds of this book will go to the Noreen O'Neill Foundation for Melanoma Research in memory of my Dad, Andy Rusnak. On April 11, 2008, he lost his life to the devastating and mysterious disease of melanoma, the fastest growing form of cancer among the general U.S. population.

Thank you for your generous contribution. If you would like to find out how your gift will be put to work, please visit this website - www.foundationformelanomaresearch.org. I think you will find the efforts made by this foundation to be vital as well as outstanding and praiseworthy.
